

Dr Gordon Woo, Risk Management Solutions:

"The ITI conference is establishing itself as a key fixture in the international counter-terrorism calendar. The informed talks and lively panel discussions are extremely useful for those involved practically in assessing, mitigating and responding to the terrorist threat."

ITI 2005

This year's most significant gathering of counterterrorism minds in UK
INTERNATIONAL TERRORISM AND INTELLIGENCE 2005
 UNDER THE STRICT CHATHAM HOUSE RULE – closed meeting

17 June 2005 - One Day Conference

The Royal College of Defence Studies, Seaford House, Belgrave Square, SW1, London

Academic Hosts: Centre for the Study of Terrorism and Political Violence, (CSTPV) University of St Andrews

Conference Outline: ITI continues its series of specialised conferences with a new one day conference open to a group of high profile practitioners from the government, private sector, public sector, academics (by invitation & application only) and a limited number of individually invited media.

As with the previous successful meetings the topics covered will be addressed by world leading counter-terrorism minds.

Critical Security issues from a regional perspective
 Tactical insights and the strategic framework
 Unrivalled networking opportunities
 The presence of leading private sector and non-governmental partners

Speakers Speakers are asked to prepare brief presentations and then to enter a discussion with other members of the panel and the expert audience under the guidance of the chair.

Keynote addresses will be given by senior UK and other officials.

The panels bring together some of the most influential thinkers and practitioners in counter-terrorism in the world. They will examine the critical security issues of the day with new and differing inter-disciplinary perspectives.

Registration for this event is now closed
